RICHARD BEASLEY SCHOOL

My School is COOL!

This is my new school! I can not wait!

It is September! First day is here! This is the door where I wait. The first school rule is be on time, don't be late!

The door opens. The teachers say hello. School is for kids to learn. Goodbye family, off you go.

HELLO!

GOODBYE!

I walk with my teachers through the door. I am going to my new classroom. They will show me more!

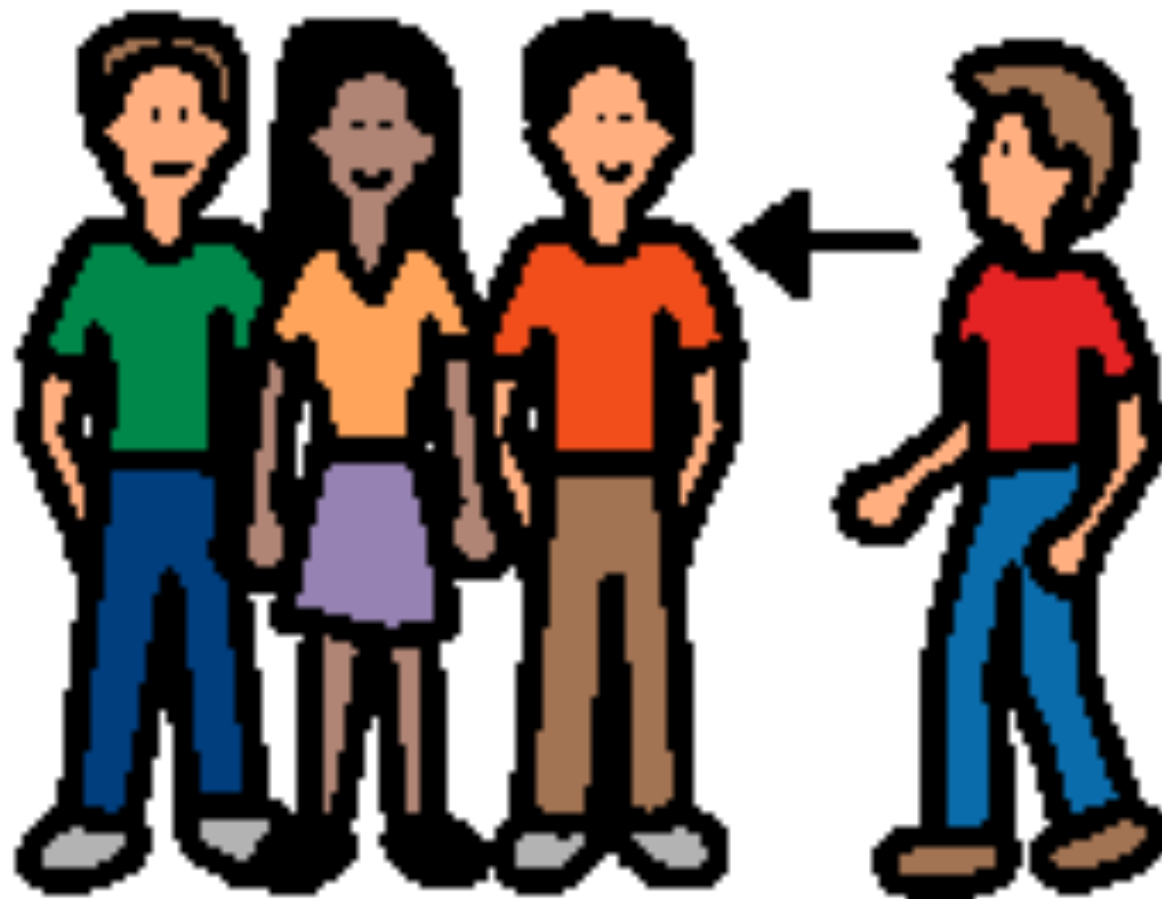

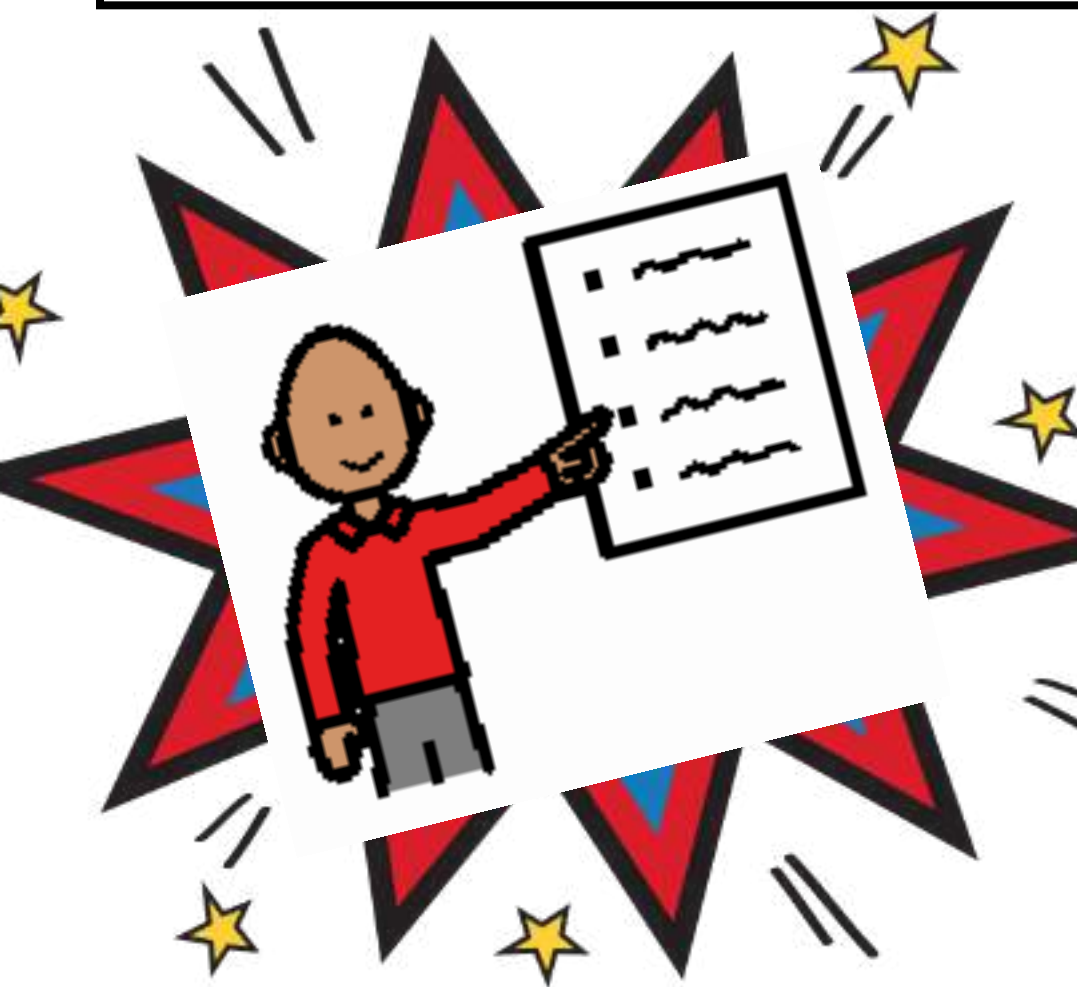

In the cubby, I hang up my backpack and coat.
I see my name by a hook. I am so smart, I knew where to look!

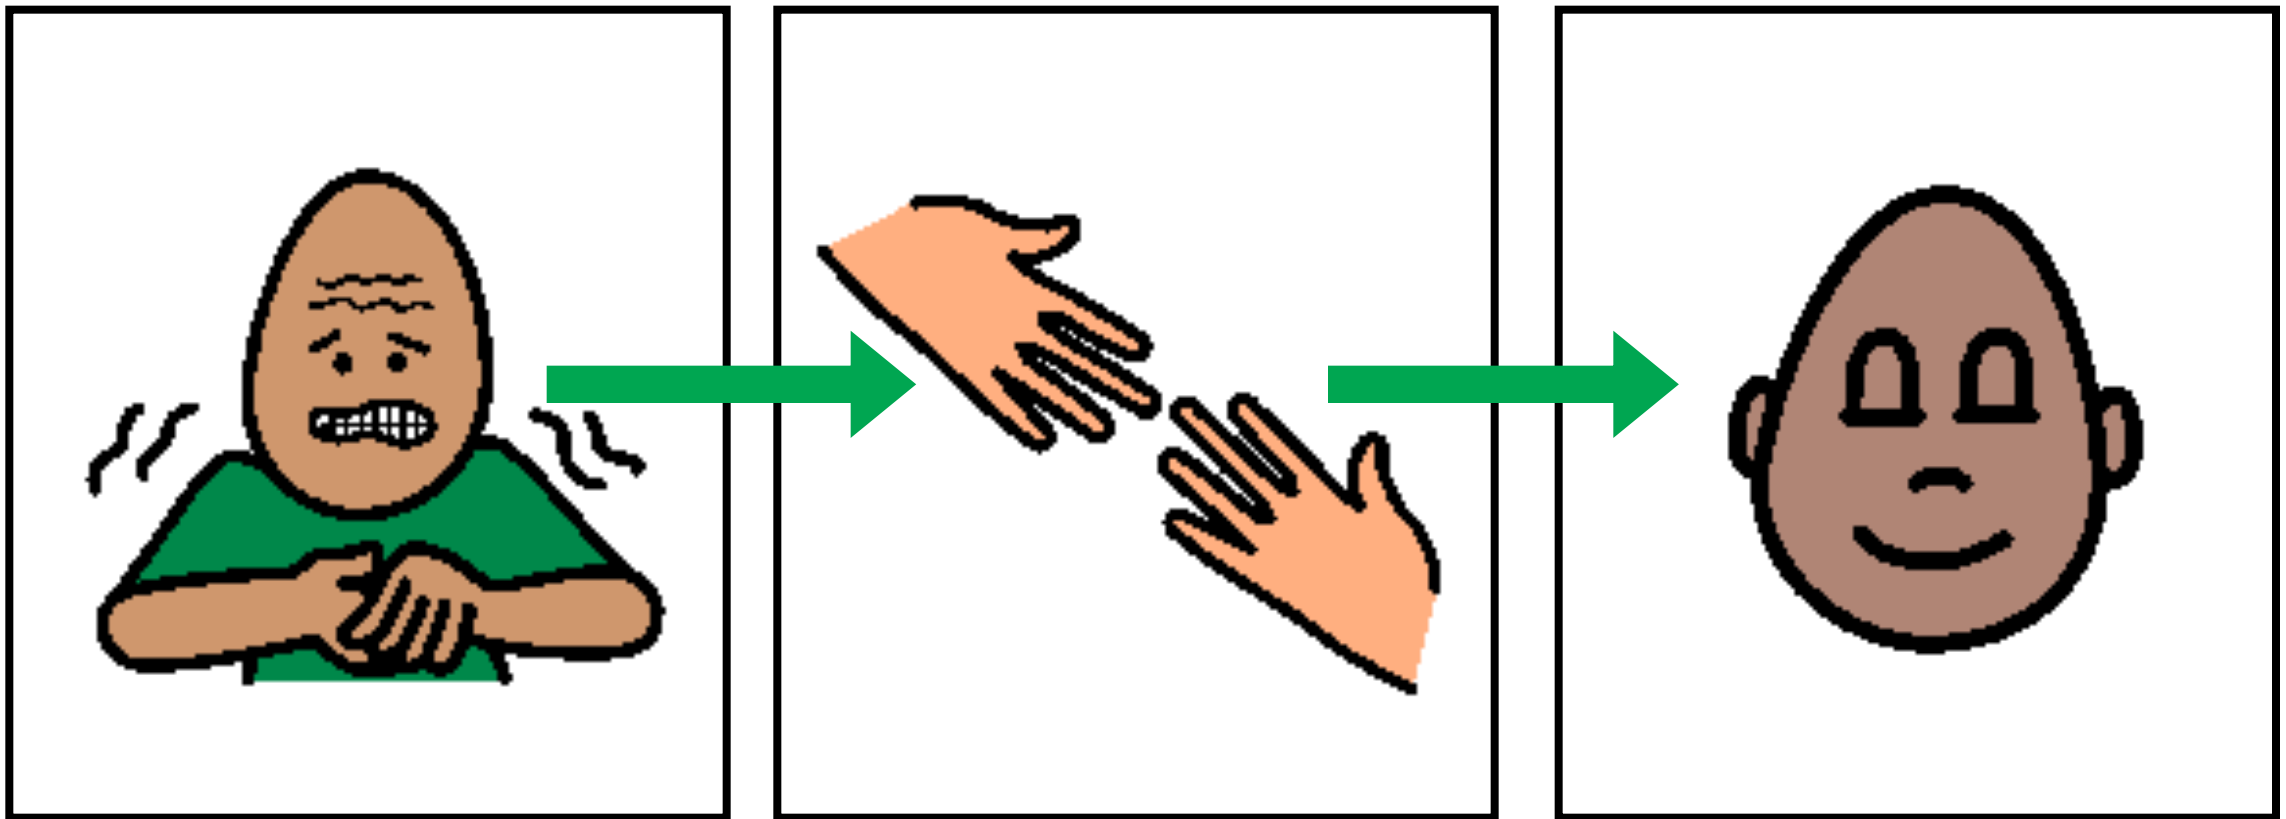

put backpack away

I stay with a teacher at all times and they stay with me.
This is a school safety rule and it will always be!

My school has many things to do and see. I may feel worried but my teachers are here to help me.

My classroom has many areas I've never seen before. Carpet time means sit on the floor. We learn new things, sing songs and so much more!

My day at school has many things I like to do
