Karl Subban is the ultimate hockey dad. Despite never playing the sport, the former high school principal and father of five has raised 3 NHL Players. Having dedicated his life to helping others reach their potential, Subban knows the value of hard work, devotion, and sacrifice. And in his powerful talks—as well as his memoir, How We Did It—Subban explores teamwork and leadership through his unique perspective as an educator and the head of a successful hockey family—helping leaders, coaches, and mentors in their quest to shape the next generation.
