

Do you have a child in Grades 7 to 10 with a Learning Disability who has been given an iPad or laptop to help them at school?

If so, the University of Toronto is looking for them to participate in a Research Study !!!

Why: This is your child's opportunity to share their experience and help make using technology at school easier for students like them!

How: They will be invited to complete a 30-minute online survey about their experience

What's in it for them: They will contribute to important research. As a thank you, you both will be invited to attend a virtual workshop about assistive technology and self-advocacy, and they will receive a digital self-advocacy workbook

High school students can receive two community service hours to help fulfill their graduation requirement

Interested?

Scan the QR code

University of Toronto Ethics Approval

UNIVERSITY OF TORONTO

Investigators:

Paige Vaccarella (paige.vaccarella@mail.utoronto.ca)

Todd Cunningham (todd.cunningham@utoronto.ca)